Monday morning, the dust had settled from the Glades multiple Halloween carnivals, and the photographers' film showed a handsome assortment of young people.

By popular acclaim or by judging committee decision or just being photogenic, they were spotlighted at the various events.

The Parent-Teacher Associations of the Glades communities are the main line of communication between the educators and the homes of their pupils, and these assorted carnivals are for the most part their sole money-making project of the year.

PAHOKEE HITS BLDG. RECORD

PAHOKEE — The biggest building year in its history was recorded by Pahokee this week, as the first 10 months of 1954 showed the total in permits issued far surpassing the high point year, 1949.

City Building Inspector Frank Thompson reported a 1954 total as of Oct. 31, of $434,250.50, or some $84,000 over the record 1949 total of $349,490.

An upsurge of home building as well as new construction of several business, apartment, and church buildings is responsible for the new record, Thompson said.

Oct. Put Over

The October building permit total of this year of $134,255 including $3,955 for TV antennae, brought in the 10-month record, he added.

In 10 years beginning in 1944, 1949 was the biggest year in its history. In 1945 and 1946 the low point with only $59,300 on the building permit books. The 1952 total of $205,716 surpassed the upswing, according to Thompson, and building was on the increase from that time.

2nd Robbery In South Bay

SOUTH BAY — The second robbery in two weeks occurred in South Bay when Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Rhodes lost $800 to an unknown burglar Sunday night. Roadman Furniture Store was the first.

According to Chief of Police R. C. White the burglar must have been aware of the habits of the Rhodes family and planned the robbery around knowledge of their retiring hour the arrangement of their house, and the probability that there was a large amount of cash available. The cash and checks were in Rhodes' trousers pocket when he went to bed. The burglar forced entry, abstracted the cash and checks, picked up a key to the Rhodes service station, ransacked it and went away without being heard.

Constable Buford Prescott and Ralph Clark of the Belle Glade police force are assisting White in investigating the robbery.

CLEWISTON JAYCEES CHARTER NIGHT SATURDAY

Clewiston Jaycees will receive their charter on Saturday night at a dinner in Clewiston Inn, according to Tom Parker.

Belle Glade Jaycees are the sponsoring club of which Bob Golden is first president. Delegates from clubs in the area are expected to attend.

Dog Owners Need Tags PLUS Shots

PAHOKEE — Dog owners were warned by the City of Pahokee this week that having Fido inoculated for rabies is only one-half the qualification for owning a dog—the other half is having a 1955 city license for him.

Fifty-six dogs were inoculated against rabies Saturday at City Hall, but only 30 tags were purchased, Sanitation Commissioner Louis F. Mims reported.

Another dog inoculation is scheduled for Saturday, Nov. 13, between 10 and 11 a.m. at City Hall. The rabies shot must be followed by the purchase of tags at the City Clerk's office, at $2 for females and $1 for males, Mims said.

Pickup of unlicensed dogs will proceed as soon as the rabies inoculations are completed, whether or not the dog shows a rabies tag, and dog owners will have to redeem their pets at the city pound or find them taken away to West Palm Beach by the Animal Rescue League, the city dog ordinance rules.

ORTHODONTIST FOR BELLE GLADE

BELLE GLADE — Glades residents now have the opportunity to receive corrective dentistry locally with the announcement of the opening of a practice by Dr. James L. Wilson. Dr. Wilson took his dentistry degree at Western Reserve and specialized in orthodontics at Indiana University. His home is in Fort Lauderdale and he will practice here on Thursdays in the office of Dr. Victor C. Mulberg.

Two New Nurses At BG Hospital

BELLE GLADE — Two new nurses have been added to the Belle Glade Memorial Hospital staff this week, Administrator Donald Parke announced. They are Mrs. Louise B. Wade and Miss Margaret McKinley. Mrs. Wade is a graduate of Mountain Sanitarium Hospital, Fletcher, N. C. She will serve as operating room supervisor at the hospital. She was formerly director of nurses at Everglades Memorial Hospital at Pahokee. Her previous experience included service in the delivery room of Lying-In Hospital, Philadelphia, and operating room supervisor at Harriman Hospital, Harriman, Tenn.

Miss McKinley will be on general duty at the local hospital. She was graduated from the New Jersey State Hospital at Trenton, N. J. Miss McKinley has served at Bell-Brooke Hospital, Green Farms, Conn., Rockland Hospital, Orangeburg, N. Y., Bayonne Hospital and Dispensary at Bayonne, N. J. and Mills Eye Hospital, Philadelphia.

Rams, Devils Take To Road Tonight

With Pahokee the high-flying Suncoast League leader as of now, both the Glades varsity teams take to the road this afternoon.

Pahokee will face fourth-ranking Vero Beach, no push-over even for the team that downed Potent Lake Worth 32-6 last week. The Belle Glade Rams travel to Pompano, ranked in eighth place to the Rams' seventh.

The gridiron story went this way for the local teams last week:

SEAHAWKS 27 - RAMS 7

Seacrest jacked itself up to seventh in the Suncoast positions last Thursday night when it banged out a 27-7 victory over the host Rams.

Walter Mosely made the single Belle Glade touchdown near the end of the game, assisted by the passing and receiving of Marvin Bergman, Harry McDonald, and Bobby Thomas. J. F. Wilcher made the point.

Seacrest broke through in the first, second, and fourth quarters, helped by some Ram fumbling.

Tonight, Coach Calvin Peacock's Rams are about an even match for the Beanypeppers, and plan to bring this one home in a hamper.

DEVILS 32 - TROJANS 6

Up to last Friday night, the Lake Worth Trojans were the only unbeaten team in the Suncoast League. Then they suffered a defeat like unto that administered by the Greeks to the Trojans of old.

The Devils had an all-star team but QB George Mills probably the brightest. He called the plays then helped make them a success.

A capacity crowd watched Hal Rosenberg run the first TD from the Trojan's 28 yard line, in the first quarter. Later in the same period, John Williams gracefully accepted a Mills pithout and took it 70 yards to bring the score to 12-0 for the Devils.

Mills passed to Don Waddell in the second quarter for another TD, and then the mighty flip passed to Chat Clark for the point, and the score stood at 19-0.

Glittering halftime show with Lake Worth's flashy band and multiple majorettes competing favorably with the Devil band, encouraged the Trojans so much that they scored in the third quarter. They achieved their sole TD after recovering a fumble, when Hal Haney went over from 11 yards.

Rosenberg whipped off another score, and then caught Mills in the third to put the tally at 26-6. In the fourth quarter, Richard Weeks trotted along the side to record the fifth and last touchdown.

BELLE GLADE LIONS' BENEFIT BARBECUE

BELLE GLADE — Belle Glade Lions activities fund will benefit from a pre-Belle Glade-Fort Pierce football game barbecue to be held from 4 to 7 p.m. next Friday at the Legion Hall, according to Tom Parker, publicity chairman.

Barbecue tickets will be available. The adult donation is $1.25 children's donation is 75cents.

Loading Problems Beset Commissions

Both north and south end Glades vegetable farmers lifted their voices this week as Pahokee-Canal Point growers and contractors held a mass meeting about the new Pahokee loading zone ordinance, and farmers and harvesters of Belle Glade area held a small session preliminary to a Monday meeting on that city's loading ramp operations.

BG Farmers To Meet Mon.

BELLE GLADE — All Belle Glade farmers and harvesting contractors are being asked to meet Monday night at City Hall following a session on the loading ramp subject Wednesday between a small group of farmers and contractors and city officials.

The competition for labor among Glades communities and what can be done about it in Belle Glade area was a major factor at the Wednesday meeting at City Hall with Mayor Harold Rabin and Commissioner Walter Ashley.

Mayor Rabin pointed out to the dozen present that until a majority of citizens affected by a particular problem could present its basis for study, the commissioners could not be expected to take action.

J. H. Livingston, spokesman for those present, urged his fellow loading ramp users to appoint a temporary chairman and board of directors to the end that majority opinion could be presented to the mayor and commissioners. Monday night is set as the time for all farmers and harvesting contractors to meet and to formulate their views. Lou Kirchman is temporary chairman of the group; Livingston is secretary. (Continued on Page 8)

Pahokee Growers Name Spokesmen

PAHOKEE — Growers and picking contractors of the Pahokee-Canal Point area may request two revisions in the new Pahokee loading zone ordinance, when a five-man committee appears before Council Monday night.

Two dozen growers, contractors, and individual farmers gathered at City Hall with members of Council Tuesday night to air complaints and suggestions about the newly-adopted ordinance setting up space rental fees and pickers' truck zones in Pahokee colored town.

Named as a representative committee to work until next as spokesmen to Council for those affected by the loading ordinance were Hilton Jones, Earl Crossman, Robert Hutton, Harold Wilkinson, and Joe Thompson. These five will present recommendations for any changes to be made in the loading zone ordinance at Monday's Council meeting.

2 Modifications

The first of questioning of Council Tuesday night seemed to indicate that the farmers will recommend that the ordinance requirement of $100 per year per space be modified to provide smaller fees for short-period or one-crop farmers, and that the drawing for spaces be annual, with no allowance for year-to-year preferences.

CC THANKS TO LETTER WRITER

PAHOKEE — Upon taking office as new president of the Pahokee Chamber of Commerce Monday night, M. P. Stanley in his first official action publicly thanked Everglades Memorial Hospital Administrator Jesse W. Reed for an 11-point letter of suggestions for C of C consideration.

Stanley was unanimously elected as Chamber head for 1954-55 at the regular directors' meeting. He succeeds Julius Moon, who resigned a few days after being named to the presidency so that a citizen of the Canal Point area can be named to the board to represent the community.

Reed, a recent nominee for membership on the Chamber board, wrote "I am most anxious to see our town make progress."

City Mgr. Needed

His number one suggestion was that the C-C encourage the idea of changing to a city manager type of local government.

He also suggested that the Chamber encourage the investment of funds in providing adequate housing facilities; encourage residents and businesses to push civic improvement; "do something to rid the town of shacks, junk, and rubbish"; install a clean-up and "keep cleaned up" attitude among local citizens.

Provide available land area for new business firms; consider the possibility of more attractive fire insurance and tax rates; encourage visitors to the community and make them feel welcome; provide potential Glades business settlers with information on best local selling points; set local clubs to the task of procuring more doctors for the community in the face of national statistics showing that eight or nine active physicians are needed in an area the size of Pahokee-Canal Point.

Stanley and the C-C directors agreed that more such letters from interested citizens would make the Chamber better able to plan its annual activities.

PAHOKEE — Mrs. Malcolm Millar's arrangement of flowers and figures in a native scene was a novel ad for the Prince Theatre's presentation of "Tanganyika" this weekend.

Mrs. Millar's handiwork is on display at Pahokee Flower Shop.

JOHNS WRITES HOSP. BOARD

BELLE GLADE — Three "suggestions from Acting Gov. Charles E. Johns were received by the five members of the Belle Glade Memorial Hospital Board this week.

Johns, acting within a week of the time of the discharge of his special representative Chester S. Dishong, addressed letters to Board Members Herbert D. Beck, Hal Stein, Harold Rabin, C. A. Thomas, and Herman Close.

"Friendly Spirit" "In the friendly spirit and with the desire to improve an operation which benefits the public," Johns wrote, he made these suggestions:

(1) That the board keep in mind the obligation each member assumed upon appointment to a diligent discharge of the duties of supervising a public hospital which is maintained by a taxing unit.

"The Board should be given to reviewing present hospital rules and regulations and 'comparing them with rules and regulations used by successfully operated institutions of a similar size' for revision accordingly."

(3) That a "review" of hospital personnel be instituted with the thought in mind of delegating "proper authority to those who will be able to realize the 'authority' and toward 'eventually providing that medical services be regulated so that the care and curative of patients be the primary function of all personnel."

30 Interviews

Johns' letter noted that Dishong's interviews with more than 30 citizens of the community regarding the hospital showed "a general attitude of 'thoughtfulness for its welfare and a realization of its usefulness to the community.'" Johns wrote that he realized "the hospital matter could be considered strictly local, but that he was making his suggestions curiously of wider investigation and the fair report I have received."

He said his reports indicate that the members of the board "are citizens of integrity and business ability," and that by working together "results of which you will be proud and which your district taxpayers will praise" should be produced.

Risalpur, Pakistan
We have been staying with an American friend and her Pakistani husband, a major in the Engineers, in the Cantonment of Risalpur.

This is the military section of the town and is very similar to the cantonment in other Indian and Pakistan towns and cities.
Originally set up by the British,
these areas contain the various Army depots and headquarters
as well as houses for the officers and barracks for the men.

Most cantonments in this area
(North West Frontier Province)
are surrounded by barbed wire and locked up at night. This part of Pakistan is a country of famine, village, or tribal feuds
where almost every man (or boy over 12) carries a gun or a knife. Most houses are built on one side of the walled courtyard and the cattle are herded at night for safety. It was pointed out to us that since the sugar cane came out, murders and assaults had stepped up since escape through the fields was relatively easy.

In the Cantonment itself and driving around the countryside by day seems peaceful. Our friends have a pleasant six-room house set in about two acres of grounds. It is a one-story house but the ceilings are extra high and narrow windows near the roof and overhead fans provide extra ventilation during the hot summer months.

At First Familiar
At first glance, things looked quite familiar to the furniture the record player and so on. But underneath there were many differences. Instead of springs the beds have lightly sprung narrow webbing (poorer quality beds have string instead) — the result is a far cry from an inspiring mattress, but surprisingly enough comfortable
and cool.

Running water is by no means universal. This house had two two-part bathrooms. In each the washing department consisted of a bathtub filled from a cold water tap (there was also a tap
in the kitchen) and the basin and pitcher arrangement our grandparents used. The floor was cement and instead of using a soap bucket the water was washed out on the floor and out a channel which led to the garden. Water is precious in this part of the country and must do double duty.

Perhaps the thing that struck us the most was the number of servants required. This situation holds all through the East, but this was the first time we had experienced it first hand.
There was, of course, a sweeper
who kept the bathrooms shipshape and did the rough cleaning of the rest of the house. The major's orderly made the beds, picked up and generally kept things spruce. The bearer, with the delightful name Fazil Dad, waited table and generally fetched and carried. Anytime you wanted anything you simply called for "Fazil Dad." Ak-ram, the 15-year-old cook, completed the inside force. Outside there was a gardener who worked part time.
Americans are so used to doing things for themselves that it is very hard to get used to doing things. As confirmed automobile travellers in the U. S. used to carrying our own bags in and out of motels we were used to our bags and then having our bags snatched from us.

Food Good
Pakistan food is quite good.
Plenty of beef, mutton and chicken usually prepared with a hot curry sauce. Rice, potatoes and unleavened bread proving the staples. Few green vegetables, but onions, tomatoes and cucumbers are served with most meals and there is lots of extra fruit. The grapes and melons were particularly tasty.

Aside from the chicken
which usually appeared whole,
the meat is usually in stew form, chopped or in chunks roasted on skewers. After a few meals
I was slightly discouraged,
and my friend's present plan is to invite her mother-in-law for a visit. She should be able to teach Akram a few new
tricks.

At one point she bought a Pakistan cook book in English, hoping at least to increase her repertory. The opening chapter started off: "First make an oven. This was slightly discouraging, and our friend's present plan is to invite her mother-in-
law for a visit. She should be able to teach Akram a few new
tricks.

LONG DISTANCE GUESS-ING: Again the question! If Senator Smathers doesn't run again, and if Congressman Charles Bennett makes a try for the Senate, who will try for Bennett's seat? Last week we told of quiet rumors that Scotty Peck had mentioned to friends
that he was planning to run.
Since then we have heard of one "stop Peck" movement — and a flood of speculation about the possible vacancy has come across our desk. Some of those mentioned include: Lou Ritter, Julian Warren, Lacy Mahon,
Tom Baker, Fletcher Morgan,
Emory Price, and possibly Hayden Burns. Already? And the race doesn't even start until 1956.

It has been quite a few years
since I had my one puppy, who was not given even a day to spend in this world.
Ever since then, I have had a stake in others' puppies, and even the boss' pup Lisa isn't attractive 24 hours a day.

I got hold of myself when we came to Florida to live, though,
and since I couldn't have puppies of my own, I turned to people — and some of their children.

One of my favorite children
is a quiet little blonde girl,
well-behaved, with good manners, unspoiled, and everything
a dog would want in a person.

Her name is Jan McQueen,
and she is the daughter of our prince, Bob, and his wife Dorothy. She and her dog Brownie and I have had a lot of fun romping around, though I can't say as much for the McQueen cat.

But this is merely leading up
to my story.
I was standing on a porch one day and even the best dogs sometimes get off the subject, like people — what I am a wreck
this week due to lack of sleep.
It's all Jan's fault, because if I didn't like her I wouldn't have lost sleep Friday night.

It's all Jan's fault, because if

The voice on the telephone was a girl and I could hear the sharp rustle of stork's
wings on the line.
Boss No. 1 jumped into some clothes and took off for Everglades Memorial Hospital because I ever made it out of bed.

Well, at a quarter of six,
there was an onrush of people into the house, carolling "It's a boy!" Just in time, too. Lisa and I had almost worn our nails
out pacing the porch floor.

A celebrating draught of milk
punch brought our happy backs
to their peak, until the bosses
shushed us.

So this week, hoarsely and weakly, I have just enough strength left to welcome John Baron McQueen officially into the family.

And I hope his sister Jan
appreciates my efforts.

Social Security Man Talks To Rotarians

PAHOKEE — New provisions of the Social Security Act were discussed by Field Representative James Bozeman from the

tary luncheon.

Introduced by John Dulany,
Bozeman outlined the 1954
amendments to the law which affect taxpayers in several and then discussed the provisions applicable to farmers and growers.
He explained that the "regularity" test of employment would not be used after Jan. 1 in determining eligibility of bean pickers and similar agricultural workers to be taxed.

The 10 Commandments of Safety

- 1 Treat every gun with the respect due a loaded gun. This is the first rule of gun safety.
- 2 Guns carried into camp or home, or when otherwise not in use, must always be unloaded, and taken down or have actions open; guns always should be carried in cases to the shooting area.
- 3 Always be sure barrel and action are clear of obstructions, and that you have only ammunition of the proper size for the gun you are carrying. Remove oil and grease from chamber before firing.
- 4 Always carry your gun so that you can control the direction of the muzzle, even if you stumble; keep the safety on until you are ready to shoot.
- 5 Be sure of your target before you pull the trigger; know the identifying features of the game you intend to hunt.
- 6 Never point a gun at anything you do not want to shoot; avoid all horseplay while handling a gun.
- 7 Unattended guns should be unloaded; guns and ammunition should be stored separately beyond reach of children and careless adults.
- 8 Never climb a tree or fence or jump a ditch with a loaded gun; never pull a gun toward you by the muzzle.
- 9 Never shoot a bullet at a flat, hard surface or the surface of water; when at target practice, be sure your backstop is adequate.
- 10 Avoid alcoholic drinks before or during shooting.

George McElhenney was elected to the board and in addition was named vice president to serve with Duke. A. E. Early was also elected to the board.

Ralph Johnson and David Unwin were appointed on the Thanksgiving Turkey Shoot committee.

LOOKING INTO THE FACTS...

NO PROTEIN — NO PRODUCTION

"There is no way of short-changing a cow on protein and still have a cow that will produce a calf every year. A cow short of protein will tend to have a calf one year and skip the next. She has to do this because she needs to recuperate and build body stores in order to conceive and give birth to another calf. This is nature's way of protecting her against the lack of protein."

Floridians' New Neighbors

Floridians have 707,000 new neighbors since the Census of 1950. That many persons have come into the state to increase by more than 29 percent the population of the state in the four year period.

In growth Nevada leads the nation with 33.1 percent more persons in 1954 than she had in 1950 and Arizona is second with 31.3 percent more persons this year than four years ago.

It is necessary to note, however, that in these sparsely-populated states the increase of 52 thousand and 232 thousand represented in the Arizona figure does not account for mass migrations of people.

The fourth place holder, California, does account for a large number of persons migrating westward. There the population in 1950 of 10 1/2 millions has been increased to 12,213 millions in the period 1950-1954.

Florida's increase in population is due to several factors, a corporation law favorable to business branches and their head offices being located in the state, a climate in which older persons can stretch their social security or other retirement checks, and a natural portal for trade with Latin America.

Many winter residents maintain their voting residence in Florida and are counted as population. These benefit from the fact that no income tax at the state level is levied here. They also benefit their heirs by residence here because there is no inheritance tax such as is levied in many northern states.

Although Florida's climate is not exportable, its products derived from that climate are. In addition to climate, location is a factor in growth.

The citrus industry is expanding to the European market, the local winter vegetable market is less densely settled. Louisiana and Texas have attracted industrial rather than agricultural workers in large numbers.

Population trends are away from the east and the cities and toward the south and the west, and the centers where population is less densely settled.

Reactivation of Department of Defense bases in Florida has brought many thousands of persons to the state, but these are not included in 707,000 individuals who have been born in or who have moved to Florida in the past four years.

First Time in regular grade gasoline

New Shell Gasoline with TCP gives performance never before possible with regular grade fuel

Now motorists whose engines were designed to operate on regular grade fuels are offered a remarkable new gasoline. This new gasoline contains TCP*, the Shell-developed additive which overcomes the greatest cause of power loss in the majority of cars on the road today.

A year ago TCP additive was introduced in Shell Premium Gasoline exclusively. Its acceptance has proved that TCP is indeed the greatest gasoline development since the introduction of tetraethyl lead.

New Shell Gasoline (regular grade)—now with TCP—benefits engine performance in two ways. First, by "fireproofing" combustion chamber deposits, it effectively controls pre-ignition. Second, by changing the deposits on the spark plugs to non-conductors of electricity, TCP additive stops misfiring. Each plug fires as it should, preventing fuel waste.

Gives performance never before possible with regular grade fuel

By correcting these engine troubles, Shell Gasoline (regular grade) with TCP gives an increase in acceleration, in smoothness of engine operation and in mileage.

Because engine deposits form constantly, continued use of Shell Gasoline (regular grade) with TCP is essential to retain its benefits. Now at all Shell Dealers.

*Shell's Trademark for this unique gasoline additive developed by Shell Research. Patent applied for.

Give a farmer some spare time and look what he does with it

By IRA MILLER
Farm Electrification Bureau
Give an industrious farmer some spare time and a free hand with his transformer type electric arc welder and he's liable to come up with all manner of home-made devices. Examples of what one young southern farmer "kidded" up during an off season are shown below.

Junked automobiles and pipe left over after the installation of a home hot water heating system provided most of the materials for these workable and useful farm tools. In general, here are some of the "scraps" and power units used:

Drill press—stand and frame of 3/4" pipe, connecting rod from old car and wooden pulleys. (Pulleys were made on a home-made band saw, also constructed of scrap metal parts welded electrically.) Auxiliary farm tractor—junked auto chassis with motor, transmission and differential; steering mechanism, axles and wheels from two other wrecked cars and one transfer truck; plus 800 pounds of concrete dumped under seat on reinforced floorboards to heavy up tractor.

from an old riding cultivator. The base is a discarded brake drum. Pipes of different circumferences, fit one inside the other to form the standard. Holes are drilled through both so that a metal peg can be inserted to raise or lower the seat to height desired.

In addition to enabling farmers to make new equipment, electric welders are invaluable tools to have at hand when machinery breakdowns occur and emergency repairs are necessary.

CC Hears Of Migrant Plans

BELLE GLADE — Coordination of civic and church groups for the benefit of migrant relief were outlined to chamber directors in regular meeting Wednesday, according to Secretary Edwin Young.

The Migrant Advisory Committee under the chairmanship of Rev. Robert Ford assisted by Julian Griggs and Rev. L. C. Penson will assist the Florida Christian Ministry to Migrants and it is planned to centralize the group's downtown activities in the Chamber of Commerce office.

Cases are to be rotated among participating organizations and an emergency fund will be established, directors heard.

In other actions the Chamber tabled for the time being action on a "Paint up, Clean up" campaign; discussed "Courtesy" parking tags for visitors from out of state; heard that four out-of-state industries were seeking information about possible south Florida industrial sites; and arranged to receive Federal Land Bank officials from 12 districts arriving yesterday afternoon.

Ramp Background
While waiting for more farmers and contractors to appear at the meeting, Mayor Rabbin discussed with the group present the background of the ramp. He outlined that at present the loading ramp part of the over-all city operation, that its revenues and disbursements are out of the general fund, and that it cannot at the moment be considered a separate or private project. He said that the commission can be guided by the needs of the majority who use the ramp.

The problem of rent for stalls was discussed. Some farmers and contractors felt that the old timers should pay less than newcomers due to their tenure of space. The mayor pointed out that at the present any differential in price would work a hardship on new farming operations.

Another question arose about original intention when the ramp was first established. The mayor said that in the face of the deplorable labor problem existing at the time the city agreed to negotiate the purchase of the ramp site, the city acted to alleviate an immediate need.

Now Paying
Expenditures for the period 1949-1954, presented by City Manager Tom Carle, show the purchase price of the ramp site to have been $28,500 and subsequent expenses $8,325. Revenues from the ramp in the same period show that only in 1953-54 was the cost of the ramp paid in. In that year excess of revenue over expenditures was $4,141.23.

Only at this time have the farmers and contractors come to the fore to present their views although they have had an annual opportunity to do so, Rabbin said. For this reason the city has continued to operate the ramp as a city project and commission decisions have been made in the best of its ability, he emphasized.

Upon suggestion that the revenues indicated possible basis for reduction of fees the Mayor pointed out that a surplus might better be used for construction of sanitary facilities on the ramp, shelters possibly an office — instead of lowering fees. He felt that establishment of a well-maintained and ordered ramp would profit the users of it in the future.

No City Limits

Farmers and contractors, aware of the critical labor shortages that have existed, spoke out about the pirating of labor from Belle Glade to other areas. It was pointed out to those holding this view that as a community-operated project no one can be discriminated against in purchase of space. It was then suggested by the farmers and contractors that the possibility of control by an association instead of by the city be investigated. The Mayor said that the commission would review any suggestions with an open mind but that the ramp could be used exclusively by Belle Glade area farmers and contractors.

The ramp operation took 100 per cent of the ramp spaces. He also pointed out the advisability of having state land available on day rent basis to protect the labor supply on days when there were more laborers than jobs in the Belle Glade area. This would afford opportunity for employment of labor in adjacent areas and prevent labor being permanently siphoned out of Belle Glade area.

Cleanup Due In Pahokee

PAHOKEE — Plans for a cleanup week and beautification of the city limits, in accordance with the new program to beautify the cities of the state and Palm Beach County, are being made locally.

Mayor Lewis Friend and Mrs. Don Hillier, president of the Pahokee-Canal Point Garden Club were working up a Chamber of Commerce Garden Club plan for a special cleanup week.

Mrs. Hillier, Mrs. Frank Shaughnessy, and Mrs. Ruth Meredith attended the roadside beautification committee meeting in West Palm Beach recently and heard the plans of other cities for beautifying their roads and city limits. Mrs. Hillier, whose report was made to the Pahokee Chamber of Commerce Monday night, said that Acting Gov. Charles Johns' traveling beautification representative, Mrs. Louise McGreggor, was being asked to appear before the garden club and the Pahokee Woman's Club to explain statewide plans to clean up and beautify Florida communities.

Gas Tax Action Awaits League

Glades city commissioners are likely to await recommendations of a committee appointed at the Association of Municipalities meeting on Monday night at West Palm Beach before passing resolutions to seek additional revenue from state gas taxes, according to local authorities. Belle Glade, Pahokee and South Bay were represented at the West Palm Beach meeting at which time outgoing association President Herman Close appointed Ralph Johnson, Pahokee, and four other community leaders to represent representative county communities to recommend a course of action for Palm Beach County cities and towns in rearing a local division of the seventh cent of gas tax which at present is granted to the county. The County Commission is presently charged with expending the seventh cent of tax money in acquisition of rights of way and secondary roads.

Committee Study

When the committee has studied the state laws relative to apportionment of gas taxes, it will then confer with members of the Palm Beach County legislative delegation to seek its support in the proposed plan to funnel back into the cities and towns a part of the gas tax collected.

Upon completion of its studies the committee will submit a report to the municipalities before Nov. 21, the date of the annual convention of the Florida League of Municipalities in Tampa.

Pahokee, Belle Glade and South Bay each have only one regular meeting scheduled prior to the League's meeting on the 21st. It is likely that individual commissions will act upon the committee's recommendations in special meetings so that decision on concerted action at the state meeting can be taken well in advance, according to local consensus.

Mayor Lewis Friend led the Pahokee delegation consisting of Councilmen F. S. Parrish, Councilman James Harry Wilkinson, Jr., City Clerk Dorothy Graham, and City Attorney John H. Smith. South Bay Mayor Claude Jones represented that community and Belle Glade representatives were Tom Carle, city manager, Commissioner Close, Walter Ashley and H. O. Carlton, and Frank Anderson, city clerk.

PAHOKEANS URGED TO OBSERVE EDUCATION

PAHOKEE — American Education Week, Nov. 7-13, will be observed next week throughout the nation. Mrs. John A. Dulaney, president of Pahokee PTA urges Pahokee parents to make a special effort to visit the local schools in the interest of their children sometime the coming week.

She also announces that Dr. C. L. Brumback, director of the Palm Beach County health department, will be the guest speaker at Monday night's PTA meeting at 8 o'clock. Dr. James W. Vann is chairman for the program, which will center about Public Health and the Public School. Mrs. E. L. Pope, membership chairman, and Dr. E. J. Graham, carnival chairman, will give reports. Mrs. Thomas Elliott, hospitality chairman, has named a committee to serve refreshments.

Mr. and Mrs. Tucker Named 'Best Costumed' By Elks

PAHOKEE — At the local Elks' benefit dance Saturday night, Mr. and Mrs. George Tucker walked off with the "best costume" awards. Mrs. Tucker, dressed as a ballerina, was wearing a string of pearls. Tucker, attired as King Henry, was awarded a travel clock.

PAH. GROWERS —

the legality of charging for space on city streets. James Harry Wilkinson, Jr. said from the Council table that the city attorney had said there might be a question in court. Later, however, Mayor Lewis Friend and Wilkinson both pointed out that rules made to control traffic on city streets, such as the present ordinance restricting the business of the cities themselves, and probably would be courtproof.

Questioned as to what would be done with the loading space rental funds when the present Council goes out and another Council takes its place, Councilman R. B. Simonson replied that the city ordinance will stand, as does every city ordinance, unless it is revoked or revised.

Pope Protest

E. L. Pope protested that the city should be locating land for the planned loading ramp instead of "dabbling" on the present loading zone. Simonson pointed out that the city is interested in regulation of the regulation of the pickup of field crews as well as in a site for a loading ramp.

Asked by J. F. Waddell why the growers had not been notified earlier of the decision to set up a loading zone ordinance, Wilkinson replied that he had talked over the matter with a number of growers as early as last June, and that this seemed the only solution then as well as now that the season has begun.

Crossman Disagrees

Earl Crossman said he didn't believe "desirability" entered into the loading space allocations, that all trucks under the new pattern spread out, and the pickers to be hired do the same. On a show of hands, 16 present voted general approval of the new ordinance, two voted against, and the remainder abstained.

Councilman Loren Meredith said that apparently part of the objection came from the small farmer or "somebody who plants one or two bags of seed a year and picks it himself." Meredith said he thought consideration should be given to some sort of monthly rate for the small farmer, "so that in the future, nobody can come here and say we discriminated against the little farmer."

Byrd Protests

G. W. Byrd, Sr., said he had the money at hand to buy one zone, or two, but that he was thinking of the little fellows who couldn't afford the $100 a year. "It looks like this is set up for these big ones," Byrd said.

L. W. Armstrong said he had trucks picking up his labor from his own land in the zoned area. He was informed that those
